It is often filled with outlandish people and amazing events, some mired in darkness, others illuminating and insightful. But all are opportunities for growth. The theatre where much of the drama plays itself out is in my professional life as a Social Worker. Somehow the pull is strong towards this vocation, which features the full spectrum of the human experience. Here, deeply human themes bubble to the surface and occasionally mirror the deep seated dilemmas of my own existence. The theme that has always carried the most weight in my world is that of Love, specifically, my inability to fully grasp the mysteries of romantic and maternal love. As I reached further into my thirties, I was more than a little stuck on the question - Who am I if I remain single and childless? The stories in Need Big Love, Need it Now, are an attempt to honestly capture the most salient experiences that have taken place over the last five years of my life, at work and in my personal life. These stories take place all over the world and reflect deep images of this challenging question. It was a serious quest, but not one devoid of deeply amusing and lighthearted moments. With a perpetual restlessness and irreverent attitude, I have racked up some wonderful adventures and delighting observations along the way. I tried to take control of my isolation and went to the Americas hoping to find a husband, but instead, came home with the realization that it was the love of a woman that I craved most. I continued to search for the...
